Fate of U.S. Missionary Still a Mystery

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya appealed today to the Congolese rebels in Stanleyville to spare the life of American missionary Paul Carlson, threatened with execution.

The message was directed to Congolese rebel leader Christophe Gbenye, apparently at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk appealed to Kenyatta to intercede as chairman of the African committee trying to end civil conflict in the Congo.

The medical missionary from Rolling Hills, Calif., was scheduled to die at noon Monday on a charge of military spying, a Stanleyville broadcast said. Since then the Stanleyville Radio has been silent.

Kenyatta, once jailed by the British as leader of the anti-white Mau Mau terrorists in Kenya, noted that he had appealed Sunday for humane treatment for all civilians held in Stanleyville.

In Bangui, Central African Republic, Mrs. Carlson declared her husband, 36, never had been a spy.

"He wanted above all to ease the miserable condition of the Congolese," Mrs. Carlson said.

She said she last saw her husband Sept. 6, after he brought her and their two young children to the neighboring Central African Republic town of Kamba.

"He could have stayed at Kamba," she said, "but he preferred to return to Ouassolo where his patients needed him."

The United States has warned the rebels they will be held to account if Carlson is harmed and Rusk said if the missionary were executed it would be "an outrageous violation of international law and of accepted standards of humanitarian conduct."

Rusk said rebel charges that Carlson was a U.S. Army major on a spy mission were "patently false."

He said the United States holds insurgent leaders "directly responsible for the safety of Dr. Carlson and of all other Americans in areas under rebel control."

In Chicago, Dr. Arden Almquist, executive secretary of Covenant World Missions in which Carlson served, said the captive missionary "definitely is not a spy."

U.S. Embassy officials in Leopoldville indicated attempts were being made to contact the rebels through the International Red Cross.

Carlson was captured two months ago close to Yakoma, on the Congo's northern frontier, after he had refused to leave his Congolese patients. The missionary had taken his wife and two children to safety in the neighboring Central African Republic.

Many whites, most of them Belgians, have been shot or hacked to death by rebel warriors, but Carlson is believed to be the first sentenced to death by the rebel command. Thousands of Congolese have been slain in the struggle by Communist-backed rebel tribesmen against the central government of Premier Moise Tshombe.

The insurgents, who at one point controlled one-sixth of the Congo, began threatening foreigners in their territory when government forces spearheaded by white mercenaries began driving back rebel forces in a drive on Stanleyville.

Soviet Regime Suggests a Power Struggle Between the Liberals and Conservatives

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The new changes at the top of the post-Khrushchev Soviet regime suggest a power struggle between liberals and conservatives over the course of the Soviet economy. Clash and compromise seem to have played a part.

Younger generation technocrats are making their influence strongly felt. There are signs that the younger men eventually will emerge with the lion's share of political authority, but the struggle is not over.

The younger men seem impatient to remove some of the restraints on Soviet economic development, even to the point of experimenting with capitalist methods.

This could lead one day to an upsurge in East-West trade, more economic independence for Red-ruled Eastern Europe and aggravation of the dispute with the Communist Chinese.

The Communist party Central Committee made these appointments Monday: Alexander N. Shelepin, 46, and Pyotr Y. Shelest, 56, to full membership in the party's ruling Presidium, and Pyotr N. Demichev, 46, to alternate Presidium membership.

The committee dropped Vasily I. Polyakov, 58, a Khrushchev farm expert, from the secretariat, and dismissed ailing Frol R. Kozlov from the Presidium, thus eliminating one conservative voice from the top of the apparatus.

Shelepin's rise was predictable. As former chairman of the State Security Committee (KGB) and chairman of the party and State Control Committee, Shelepin probably played a significant role in unseating Nikita Khrushchev as premier and first secretary of the party.

Shelepin, a deputy premier, now may be moving close to the top rung of party leadership, possibly eventually as deputy to First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Shelepin's rise and the advancement of Demichev to alternate Presidium membership can encourage new generation leaders anxious to build the consumer economy despite resistance from hard-line conservatives and the military.

Demichev is closely associated with the chemical industry, a hope of the younger men for sharply stepped up consumer production.

These appointments seem to enhance the positions of younger-generation leaders, like Presidium member Dmitry Polyansky, 47, an able administrator with wide experience. Polyansky and Shelepin now are men to watch.

One Thing for Certain—Adam and Eve Never Heard These State, Time Worn Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — No one knows for sure just what reparations were exchanged in the Garden of Eden.

The language was young and far then, as young and fair as the world's only bridal couple.

It is impossible at this late date to discover what shy jokes Eve whispered to Adam, what clever boffs and bon mots Adam composed when he had earth's first lady as his only audience.

But here are a few state remarks and time-worn quips they certainly didn't inflict on one another:

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"I want a girl just like the girl that married dear old dad."

"Enough is enough. I'm going to pack and go home to mother."

"I'm tired of supporting your brother. Let him get out and earn his own living for a change."

"Don't think you're the only fish that swims in the ocean."

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away."

"Now don't try and tell me you've been out with the boys until this hour!"

"No, I was sitting up with a sick friend."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration announced Monday it had approved a $220,000 loan to help Salem, Ark., finance building of water and sewer facilities.

The Urban Renewal Administration announced a grant of $67,000 to Fort Smith for aid in preparation of a comprehensive plan for growth and development of the Fort Smith metropolitan area. The grant will be administered through the state.

A Third Deer Season for State Hunters

There were 252 legal Buck kills in Hempstead County during last week's opening deer season. Two doe were taken legally with bow and arrow.

This figure is almost 10 per cent more than the total kill for the same period last year.

The Game and Fish Commission has officially announced a third season again this year from December 31, 1964 to January 2, 1965. Legal bucks only may be taken.

Audubon Program Is Thurs. Night

Hempstead County Audubon Society will meet Thursday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m. in the First National Bank Community Room.

Charles Gardner, past president of Texarkana, will show slides of birds in this area and his own collection of birds from other states. Mr. Gardner is an authority on birds, having been credited with a large number on his Life List.

He appeared on a program before the local Society two weeks ago along with Jack Logan. He was received with such enthusiasm that he was asked to return.

All bird lovers and bird watchers are invited to this meeting.

Eastern U.S. areas get some rain, apparently easing drought conditions in some states.

The last of 29 bodies are removed from a snow-covered butte in Nevada as officials begin investigation of airliner crash.

A 17-year-old Arizona youth fights his way through a snowstorm for help. He returns with rangers to find his hiking companion frozen to death.

A close study of many factors points to one conclusion: The coming winter may be abnormally mild, but prepare for the worst.

Federal mediators hope to arrange new bargaining sessions between union and railroad officials in a last-ditch effort to avert a strike set for Monday which could halt service on most of the nation's carriers.

Six shop craft unions, involved in a wage dispute with the railroads for nearly 18 months, Monday called the strike of their 140,000 members for 6 a.m. local time. A spokesman for the unions said the walkout would halt service on the 187 railroads and terminal switching companies which handle more than 90 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The spokesman, Michael Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, said that consideration would be given any "fair and equitable" settlement offer from the railroads. He also said serious consideration would be given any request from the White House.

There was no immediate word from the White House but the shop unions have rejected an inadequate presidential emergency board's recommended increase of 27 cents an hour over a three-year period.

Francis O'Neill of the National Mediation Board came to Chicago from Washington and met separately with carrier and union officers Monday. He said he would try to set up bargaining sessions between union and rail officials.

J. E. Wolfe, spokesman for the railroads, said the carriers will not go beyond the recommendations made Oct. 20 by the emergency board. He said to grant higher increases would be unfair to other rail unions which he said have or are about to agree to the board's formula.

Instruction on Pistol Handling

PRICHARD, Ala. (AP) — Rookie policeman J. E. Jordan probably will be getting some instruction soon from fellow officer Danny Goldman on how to handle a pistol.

Jordan bent over to pick up a book Monday shortly after reporting for duty at the city jail. When he stooped, his pistol fell from his holster. He picked up the gun and it discharged.

Goldman suffered the only injury — a sore head. The bullet shattered an overhead light which fell on Goldman.

Farmers to Elect ASCS Committee

County and Community Committeemen who will administer ASCS programs in 1965 will be elected by farmers in November, according to an announcement by Mark S. Glover, Chairman of the Arkansas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

This year's elections will be held by mail. December 1 has been set as the final date by which ballots must be postmarked or personally delivered by farmers. Ballots will be mailed to all voters on record by the ASCS county office on or before November 20.

Complete instructions will accompany the ballots which will describe how they are to be marked and returned in pre-addressed envelopes requiring no postage.

Last year Arkansas farmers had a 35 percent participation in the election. Hempstead county had a participation of 54 percent. The county committeemen now serving will be responsible for seeing that all phases of the election process are properly performed.

This year, the slate of nominees will include the names of all persons nominated by petition who are found willing to serve and are eligible.

The present community and county committeemen now serving will make additional nominations necessary to complete the slate for voting. Persons who are elected chairman of the community committeemen will serve as delegates to the county convention to be held December 17, for the purpose of electing the county committee. Newly elected county and community committeemen will take office on January 1, 1965.

Tech School Committee in Hope Today

A Committee from the Arkansas State Board of Education to select a site for the Southwest Arkansas Vocational Technical School will be in Hope today.

The group will arrive about mid-afternoon and will spend the balance of the afternoon inspecting local sites and visiting with a special site committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

A dinner for the visitors will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at Hope Country Club after which a presentation of Hope's qualifications for such a school will be made. This is to be an informal session with comments from anyone.

Strike at GM Jolt to U. S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Motors strike last month gave the nation's economy its roughest jolt since the 1960 recession, and the effect may linger if the current strike at Ford Motor Co. puts another extended damper on production.

Government economists fretted today about the possibility that labor disputes could cause a general business slowdown after an almost uninterrupted climb of four years.

If the Ford stoppage is settled quickly, there remains the threat of a nationwide steel strike next week. There is talk of trouble in the steel industry, even though in the steel industry line is months away.

Both government and business economists have expressed concern over the possibility that wage settlements such as the one at General Motors could lead to a heavy round of inflation after four years of relative stability. Now they also face the possibility that the same labor-management disputes could lead to a sag in the economy.

"I believe we have to worry more about keeping things rolling than we do about inflation," one administration official said.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Monday that its index of industrial production had fallen from 134.0 in September to 131.7 in October. The scale is based on a value of 100 for the 1957-59 average. Thus the October drop was 2.3 points.

Highway Dept. Asks for Operating Budget of $129 Million at Council Hearing

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council continued hearing budget requests from state agencies today after receiving a record $125 million request from the Highway Department Monday.

Among the agencies appearing before the council today were the Supreme Court, the Bank Department, the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Board and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Most of the agencies asked for minor increases and their requests were in line generally with recommendations of Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The council did not act immediately on the requests it received today.

The Highway Department's budget request was 29 million more than the current record appropriation.

About $45 million of the new budget would come from state funds, the rest from federal funds.

The council held its first day of biennial budget hearings, in which it reviews budgets of all state agencies.

It approved budgets of the secretary of state's office, the state Land Department and the lieutenant governor's office, plus several miscellaneous appropriations.

Several legislators made it clear they were disappointed that the Highway Department had not come up with a program for developing rural roads.

Rep. Clarke Kinney of St. Francis County complained that most of the budget increase went for salaries and not for rural road development. Kinney and Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen said the Highway Commission should lend its prestige to the General Assembly in jointly pressing for an accelerated rural road program.

The Highway Department asked for an increase in maximum allowable salaries from $8.97 million to $10.6 million, with a large part of the increase going to the top five grades in the department. The department has 21 salary classifications. The maximum salary the highway director could draw under the budget would be raised from $18,000 to $22,000.

Acting Highway Director Ward Goodman sought to justify the big increases in upper echelon salaries by saying that there had been no boosts in them since 1958.

The department's maintenance and construction budget would be increased from $79.6 million to $103.6 million under the request.

The Legislative Council deferred approving a $50,000 budget request of the Arkansas Children's Hospital, a private agency, until a three-man committee can study sources of federal aid for such institutions.

For a number of years the state has been appropriating $25,000 for the hospital.

Van Dalsen questioned the advisability and constitutionality of appropriating any state money to private institutions.

Must Dismantle His Tree House

LONDON (AP) — The Winstead and Woodford Town Council has ordered John Ludlow to dismantle a tree house built on his two children.

"It's ridiculous," said Ludlow 41. "I've been told I didn't get permission from the Town Council. Mind you, the tree house is on my own property, in my own garden."

A spokesman for the council said Ludlow didn't get permission from the Planning Committee, as required by law, and neighbors had complained about the tree house.

Ludlow built the house for his son Richard, 10, and daughter, Brenda, 8.

"It's an eyesore and I complained to the council," said Joan Roberts, a neighbor.

"Anyway, it's particularly annoying when we are in our garden to have the Ludlow children running around the platform of their tree house making all sorts of noises and firing off toy guns."

Ludlow said he might appeal the order.

Hopeful Talks

Fox said the six unions, among 11 non-operating unions involved in wage disputes, have met with the carriers three times since the board's report and talks were unproductive. The board's report automatically banned a strike for 30 days under terms of the Railway Labor Act but the unions are free to call a strike any time after Thursday.

The six shop craft unions represent rail workers who build, maintain, repair and service railroad locomotives and cars. Fox said he would request the cooperation of all other rail unions in the strike and said they could be expected to recognize picket lines of the shop workers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in Washington last week that he did not expect a rail strike or White House intervention in the case.

Present hourly pay in the non-operating unions averages $2.58 and $2.63 in the six shop crafts. The shop unions have demanded initial increases, retroactive to June 30, 1963, of 10 per cent plus 14 cents an hour plus subsequent annual increases of 3 1/2 per cent and a cost-of-living escalator clause.

Companion of Youth Is Found Frozen

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth, fighting frostbite and a raging snowstorm, brought rescuers to his hiking companion Monday only to find him frozen to death in Arizona's rugged northland.

Young Michael McBride was hospitalized with frostbitten feet after his futile attempt to save Abram William Clark, 51, of Bell Gardens, Calif.

A search was to begin today for Clark's wife, Nellie, 54, and the youth's father, George McBride of Jerome, Ariz. Temperatures were expected to drop to near zero in the canyon country where they were last seen.

The four had been packing supplies into rugged Tule Canyon south of Williams where Clark planned to return on a rock-hunting expedition in the spring.

McBride told his rescuers that Mrs. Clark decided she couldn't hike out of the canyon to where they had parked their truck. She and the elder McBride headed for a ranch 16 miles down the canyon.

Clark and the boy hiked back up the canyon to the truck. The vehicle stalled in the snow, however, as the two attempted to drive toward a rendezvous with the others at the ranch.

The youth and Clark walked about 10 miles and tried to build a fire but the intensity of the snowstorm was increasing and they failed.

McBride said he and Clark then fell asleep. "I dreamed my feet were being amputated," said the boy. "Then I woke up."

He set out for help when he couldn't awake Clark, who he said was still breathing.

Forest rangers found the youth in a blinding snowstorm which left 14 inches in the area. The boy led them to Clark, who was dead.

Cocino County sheriff's deputies said the elder McBride and Mrs. Clark never reached the ranch.

Redistrict Suits Filed by Attorney

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock attorney's wife asked U.S. District Court Monday to order the legislature and the governor to redistrict the state's four congressional districts to equalize their populations.

Mrs. John F. Park asked in a suit that the legislature and Gov. Orval E. Faubus be given reasonable time to redistrict.

If they don't, however, her suit asked that the court realign the districts to provide "equal representation for equal numbers of people."

Park represents his wife, and he said that filing the suit was his idea. He said he thought a lawsuit was needed to get some work started on redistricting. His wife agreed to let him bring the suit in her name, Park said, and he said she also felt some steps should be taken toward redistricting.

The districts and their populations in 1960 are First, 360,183; Second, 517,860; Third, 332,844; and Fourth, 575,385.

Mrs. Park's suit said she recognized that redistricting was a legislative matter and that the legislature and the governor should have the first opportunity to perform their duty.

The 1961 General Assembly established the four districts after Arkansas lost two seats in the House because of a population decrease.

The suit charged that the present districts are "an invidious discrimination," because Mrs. Park's "right to vote for a congressman is illegally and unlawfully diluted by the placing of Pulaski County in the Second District, which has many more voters than the First and Third Districts."

The suit said redistricting should be based on the "one person, one vote" principle decreed by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Rep. E. C. Gathings of West Memphis, who represents the First District, last week urged the legislature to redistrict to eliminate the possibility that all four congressmen would have to run at large in 1966.

Wilbur Mills of Kensett represents the Second District, J. W. Trimble of Berryville the Third, and Oren Harris of El Dorado, the Fourth.

Faubus has said he thinks redistricting of the congressional districts and of the seats in the state legislature can be handled best in a special session of the General Assembly. He said he thinks the regular 60-day session which starts in January is too short to get into redistricting.

Park said he would leave to the court the time limit for rethe historic Superstition Mountains 40 miles east of the sprawling desert city of Phoenix. Snow is rarely seen on the Superstitions, where searing summer days and heat exhaustions are more common.

Temperatures were expected to dip to 10 below at some northern Arizona points. All major highways in Arizona and New Mexico were reported open, but driving was extremely hazardous.

Prefers Another Revenue Source

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Monday he would like to see financing of the State Police handled with money from sources other than the general revenue fund.

A Legislative Council committee recommended last week that the agency be financed with general revenues, rather than from special revenues.

The Arkansas Education Association adopted a resolution against such a move, since school operations are financed from the general revenue fund.

Faubus said he thought the council committee made the proposal "to see what the reaction would be."

He noted that in the past three years State Police have lost about 18 of its best men, who quite for higher paying jobs.

2 More Feet, Plane Would Have Cleared

By JOHN B. LENGEL

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Just this much more and he would have cleared that ridge," a sheriff's deputy said Monday, holding his hands about two feet apart.

He was standing in hard-packed snow 50 yards from the ridge called Arden Dome that stopped a Bonanza Airlines F27 turboprop Sunday night. At 29 aboard died in the crash.

Clearly visible from where he stood was Las Vegas' McCarran Field, nine miles to the north, the destination of Flight No. 114 from Phoenix.

Pilot Hank Fitzpatrick, 41, radioed McCarran tower at 8:25 p.m., two minutes before the plane vanished from a radar-scope during a heavy snowfall.

The only persons who knew what happened in that two minutes are dead.

A swarm of sheriff's deputies and volunteers removed all the bodies from the 4,200-foot high ridge on the western flank of Las Vegas Valley with the aid of helicopters from nearby Nellis Air Force Base.

The plane did not burn. It broke apart and its pieces jumbled northward across the top of the dome. Bodies were thrown in every direction.

Conversation at the temporary camp, 500 feet below the dome was often silenced with blaring messages over search radios.

"We need something to pry a body loose from the wreckage. Send up a crow bar or something on the next helicopter."

By sunset, only a sheriff's rear guard remained at the site to preserve the scene for Civil Aeronautics Board investigators.

Edward Slattery of the Washington CAB office said, "It's too soon to tell what happened. We

Faubus Puts Up Money for Vote Study

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus agreed today to provide money from his emergency fund to pay expenses of a group which will study voter registration procedures in other states.

The study is tied to Amendment 51, which sets up a voter registration system for Arkansas.

Faubus met this morning with Berlon Davis of Wynne, Cross County clerk and president of the Arkansas County Clerks Association.

The county clerks will handle registration under the amendment, which was passed in the Nov. 3 general election.

Faubus said he and Davis discussed the possibility of sending three clerks, two members of the Committee for Voter Registration, which sponsored Amendment 51, and three members of the Legislative Council, to look at registration procedures in other states.

He said the group probably would visit Tennessee, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri.

"I suggested that they go to states with registration procedures similar to ours," Faubus said. "It wouldn't help to study a system that is radically different."

Faubus said the group probably would make the study tour this month and that he did not know yet how much it would cost.

The governor was busy today meeting with various groups, principally about budget matters. The Legislative Council is involved in a series of budget hearings and Faubus said he is keeping busy just trying to stay ahead of the council.

He said that state employees worked until 2 a.m. today preparing budgets for presentation to the council. The budget work is behind schedule, he said, because of the general election.

On other matters: Faubus disputed figures from a national survey which alleged to show that Little Rock's Negro population was the poorest in major cities in the nation. "I just don't believe this," Faubus said. "Of course there are a lot of poor folks in Arkansas. Our per capita income is low. But we are gaining more rapidly than any other state."

Faubus said he still has not had time to draw up details of his 1965 legislative program but he said that more money for public schools, expansion of the Children's Colony, expansion of the trade school program, and construction of more National Guard armories will be part of it.

He said he thought that filing Monday of a suit designed to don't know yet if we are going to reconstruct the wreckage. It would be an extremely difficult job."

His office has impounded the plane's flight recorder.

Slattery and two dozen other CAB and FBI officials met Monday night in Las Vegas.

Only 10 bodies had been identified early today.

Election Results Are All in Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Monday that all election results had been turned into his office, will take at least a day or two.

He said a preliminary check indicated that the governor's race accounted for most of the record number of votes cast.

force the legislature to redraw congressional district boundaries was a good idea.

"Everyone is reconciled to the fact that we're going to have to redistrict," Faubus said. "It is needful to have a court decision so that the need for legislative action will be clearly indicated."

Faubus said, however, that there is no need for a quick court decision because redistricting should be handled in a special legislative session after the coming regular session and there is plenty of time to redraw the boundaries before the 1966 elections.

Group Works to Open Spa Night Club

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A small group of Hot Springs businessmen are working to re-open one or more of the resort's night clubs, Richard Wootton, president of the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Wootton declined to reveal details of the plan, saying there were "one or two more items" to be worked out.

He said the primary purpose of the plan was to make the resort more attractive to visitors and to "broadcast the word that Hot Springs is still very much in the health and pleasure resort business."

Wootton said the preliminary studies were encouraging, since the kitchen, dining room and show equipment of the clubs was still in place.

The clubs closed after Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered casino gambling in Hot Springs shut down.

wide steel strike in 1959.

The Federal Reserve said that "recovery in November will be dampened by the beginning of strikes at other plants in the auto industry."

Although deliveries of new cars fell 30 per cent, retail sales continued to climb in other lines, and the over-all effect was a decline of only 3 per cent for the month. The output of business equipment was 10 per cent ahead of a year earlier.

Since strikers are counted as employed in Labor Department statistics on unemployed, the jobless rate held steady at 5.2 per cent last month. There was a reduction in employment.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Every so often there comes along a performer who is such a natural as to be virtually an instant star. Just such a fellow is Jim Nabors.

He plays the title on CBS' Friday night comedy "Gomer Pyle—USMC," which surprised everyone by landing the No. 3 spot on the first big rating report of the season.

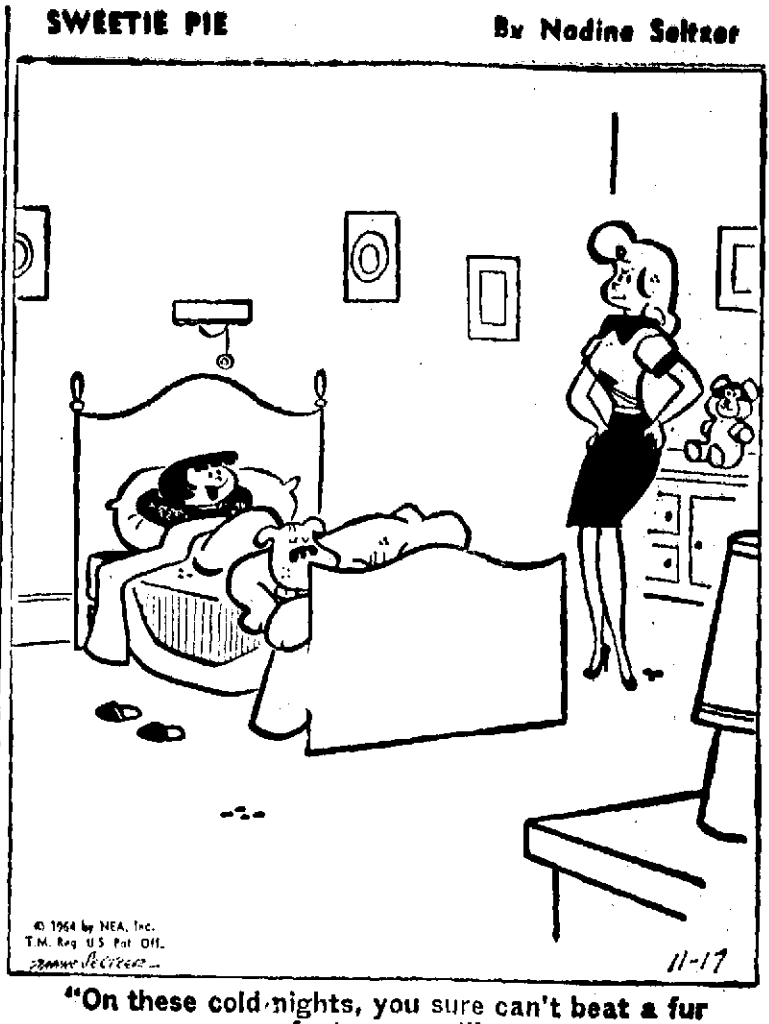

Jim Nabors was the most surprised of all. "Ah can't remember enough comedy gatta big ratin' on Frident night; ah wuz scaired," said he—recorded phonetically.

As you can gather, Jim is from the South—Sylacauga, Ala. At times his drawl becomes so acute he makes his mentor, Andy Griffith, sound like a Yankee.

Jim worked at a number of jobs after graduating from the University of Alabama in business administration. Among his last was assistant cutter at NBC. "I hated it," he recalled. "Some cutters have creative work, but all I was doing was slicing the film to put in commercials."

"DEAR ABBY"

SILENCE IS GOLDEN!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: My husband's mother is getting on in years, but she still enjoys shopping personally for all of her grandchildren's Christmas gifts. She starts in October. She sends the gifts directly to me, and I do all of her gift-wrapping and mailing. Abby, she selected a book (I suppose you would call it a FACTS OF LIFE book) for her fourteen-year-old grandson. I looked through it, and it explains how he grew from a little seed that was planted under his mother's heart. Abby, you know very well that a 14-year-old boy would have a laughing fit if he ever got a book like that. Should I tell Nana that the book is too juvenile for him? My husband says to send the book and keep my opinions to myself. Who is right?

MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Your husband. Send the book.

Dear Abby: My daughter is 15. Two of her girl friends have made a habit of coming home with her every night after school and staying until it is time for us to eat supper. They make remarks such as, "Gee, that smells good!" And, "Well, I guess I'll have to go home and fix myself a cheese sandwich for supper." The mothers of both these girls work, and they are expected to get their own evening meals. I haven't the heart to send them home, but you would think they would have sense enough to go without being told. I wouldn't mind feeding them once in a while, but I can't afford to feed the mob every night. What should I do?

ON A BUDGET

Dear On: These girls are your daughter's friends and it is up to her to tell them in a nice way that they cannot stay for dinner every night. If you explain it to her gently and without anger she can tell them in the same spirit and there will be no hurt feelings.

Dear Abby: I just don't understand people. Or maybe it's just me, but what do you think about having a big party to celebrate a couple's wedding anniversary when one of them has been dead for two years? Some

Jim is an easy moving chap with a mobile face and an off-center jaw. "I got a terrible bite," he remarked. "Lot of people call me—slack-jawed, but it's that way because of a vitamin deficiency when I was a kid."

He is a bachelor who lives alone and doesn't particularly like it, especially the continual eating out. He's usually too tired or busy to cook for himself. When he isn't filming the series, he's touring the country to promote it.

"Andy and I have the same business manager, and he gives us each $50 a week for spending money," said Jim. "I realized how busy I had been when I discovered I had six of the checks uncashed."

System-wide Ford Closeup Possibility

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. studied its next move today in a parts-shortage situation which it says could lead to a system-wide shutdown of its 90 plants by the end of the week.

Approximately 58,000 of Ford's 160,000 employees remained idle in strikes or layoffs at factories across the country as negotiations continued with the United Auto Workers Union.

Included were 16,700 workers affected by local-plant strikes which were reduced to five over the weekend.

Ford, blaming a car-parts shortage from key manufacturing plants, laid off 34,000 men last week. At that time a string of local-plant strikes was idling 24,000 workers.

Both company and union expressed hope that all the strikes could be settled before a scheduled meeting between management and the UAW's national bargaining committee Thursday.

The union ordered its national Ford committee to Detroit to assist in negotiations after top-level talks had produced no agreements.

Local agreements at the plant level supplement the national agreement between Ford and the UAW, which was reached Sept. 18. The present local strikes began Nov. 6.

Two weekend settlements, at the Sheffield, Ala., aluminum foundry and the Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant, left five disputes remaining in the interlocking nationwide plant system of the country's second-largest automobile producer.

The unsettled disputes were at two car and truck-assembly plants in Wayne, Mich., parts plants at Ypsilanti and in Michigan's Sterling Township, and the Buffalo, N.Y., stamping plant.

November 26 Is Thanksgiving

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson today proclaimed Nov. 26 as Thanksgiving Day and urged that all Americans pray on that day "that the forces of evil, violence, intolerance, and inhumanity may soon vanish from the earth."

Johnson called on citizens to gather in their homes and their churches "to give thanks to God for His graciousness and His generosity to us—to pledge to Him our everlasting devotion—to beseech His divine guidance and the wisdom and strength to recognize and follow that guidance."

And he urged that Americans take the opportunity "to pray to Him that the forces of evil, violence, indifference, intolerance, and inhumanity may soon vanish from the face of the earth and that peace, reason, understanding, and good will may reign supreme through the world."

Steel Visions Busy Season Rest of Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry sees busy schedules in the final weeks of the year despite shutdowns in some customers' plants and still labor demands looming in steel's own.

The United Steelworkers Union is starting to map its campaign for spring negotiations. First it may have to settle a leadership fight in its ranks. And the fight is likely to increase its demands, whoever wins. Management already was on notice that the union's asking price would be much stiffer than last time.

Labor shutdowns in many auto plants this fall have held up steel shipments to these big customers. But steel production schedules so far have been affected little. Other customers have kept the mills busy. And orders on hand will keep many working near capacity for weeks ahead. Many companies will be using new equipment that eases production costs — and lifts profits.

The final weeks of the year, and the early ones of next year, look bright indeed.

Pressure for steel price increases continues strong, although held in check just now by White House frowns.

The upcoming bargaining with the steelworker's doesn't make the steel executives' task easier, nor does the uncertainty as to its outcome of the union's internal power struggle.

And customers aren't too happy either. The worst possibility they face would be a strike. Another outcome would be a labor settlement so generous that it would increase steel production costs and intensify the pressure for a price raise.

Either way customers stand to lose. And many already have started building up their steel stocks a bit just in case.

If this movement gathers speed, as the fight in the union develops, and as the final labor demands take shape, steel mills would find themselves operating at full tilt for many weeks or even months.

Steel executives know, however, that this over-activity would only lead to a letdown when customers start to live off their built up stocks.

And the industry doesn't relish such ups and downs.

Right now, though, the big stack of unfilled orders at the mills seem to be based quite solidly on real demand by customers who want to turn the metal into various industrial and consumer goods.

The auto industry reports sales strong — that is, as strong as strike-crippled production permits. It expects to make up much of its lost production in the weeks ahead. And hopefully it asserts that disappointed auto buyers will be lining up again when all cars are available.

The appliance industry also boasts of good sales and continuing demand. The construction industry continues to hum, except for a slight slowdown in home building. Railroad equipment makers see their revived prosperity lasting for some time.

People in the News

LONDON (AP)—While Crown Princess Margarethe of Denmark danced at a gay house party Saturday night, burglars slipped into her bedroom and got away with her jewels.

Police said the noise of the music and dancing covered the thieves' escape.

NEW YORK (AP)—Associate Justice William J. Brennan Jr. of the U.S. Supreme Court says the court's decision on school prayer was "faithful to our society's judgment."

The court enjoined governmental institutions from requiring prayers in the public schools.

Brennan, speaking Sunday night at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, said many persons "have voiced concern that the prayer decisions portend the elimination of religion from every vestige of public life."

But, he said, in the religion clauses of the Constitution "our collective society has pronounced its own judgment that its governmental institutions may not officially involve religion in such a way as to prefer, discriminate or oppress a particular religion or religion in general."

NEW YORK (AP)—Sergeant Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, says the corps is starting a program to send hundreds of doctors abroad on health projects.

Shriver said Sunday that 100 doctors worked overseas as volunteers or on assignment from the U.S. Public Health Service last year.

Who Steals My Name . . .

By Clay Richards

Copyright © 1964 by Clay Richards. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Story: After Blake tries to get information from Trudy Martin as to the whereabouts of Richard Emery, Joe Balk waylays him with a gun. Balk presses the gun into Inspector Blake's stomach and orders him to turn around and start walking.

VIII

I started to turn slowly to my left, then twisted suddenly and slashed my right arm across his wrist. He swore and the gun fired, the bullet hitting the sidewalk and screaming down the street.

I swung back quickly and threw a left jab. It staggered him enough for me to get set. I hit him with a right on the corner of his chin as hard as I could. He went down and stayed down, the gun clattering from his limp hand.

I stood looking down at him, rubbing my fist. It was probable that he did know where Dick Emery was. It might be better for me if he didn't have any chance to get word to his friend. I looked around the street. There was a police call box on the corner about 20 feet away.

Joe still wasn't moving. I walked over to the box, opened it and lifted the receiver. "Send a patrol car to Bleeker and Christopher as soon as you can," I said when there was an answer. I hung up before the precinct man could ask any questions. I went back to watch Joe.

They weren't long in getting there. It was only two or three minutes before a patrol car screeched to a stop. Both policemen got out, their guns in their hands. They must've spotted the gun on the sidewalk. One of them went over to Joe while the other one watched me warily.

"What's going on here?" he asked. "This man attacked me," I said. "I'm Inspector Blake Morgan, United States Postal Service. My identification is in my wallet in my inside pocket."

"Take it out—slowly," I reached in my pocket and brought out my wallet. I opened it and held it out. He took it and looked at the card, still holding the gun. He looked up once to compare the photograph with me. Finally, he handed the wallet back to me and slipped his gun into its holster.

"How's that one?" he called to the other policeman. "Just knocked out. He'll come around. What's with that guy?"

"Postal Inspector. Says this guy jumped him."

I was up fairly early the following morning and went directly to the office. My desk was as clean as it had been the last time I saw it. No TWX messages, no memos. I picked up the phone and called the Fourth Precinct and met Captain Carter.

"This is Inspector Morgan, United States Postal Service," I said when he came on. "I believe I was mentioned in one of your reports last night."

"I read it this morning, Inspector," he said. "Find anything on Joe Balk?"

"Yes. He's claiming he was framed, but the only prints on projects."

Guards Hope to Be Able to Deploy Fast

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Guard has strong hopes its first-line divisions could be in shape to deploy three weeks after mobilization in an emergency, its chief said today.

This would be less than half the eight-week readiness objective set by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

During the Berlin crisis of 1961-62 it took two Guard divisions five months to get into condition for deployment after being mustered into federal service.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, who heads the Pentagon's National Guard Bureau, told The Associated Press certain reforms put into effect over the past two years are showing promising results.

Texas Tech Is Big Problem for Porkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
What is the difference, Mr. Broyles, between 10-0 and 9-1? "It's a heck of a long fall from there."

And that's why Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas is concentrating on beating Texas Tech Saturday instead of thinking about the good times his team is going to have at Dallas on New Year's Day playing Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl.

Broyles thinks that one-game difference can just about ruin a team's season and he sure wants his Razorbacks to make it 10-0 for Arkansas' first undefeated, untied campaign of 10 games.

"This week is the biggest thing that has happened to any of us—a chance to go undefeated for the first time in 55 years," Broyles said.

But he's worrying about the Texas Tech backfield which he calls "fantastic" and that should keep both his mind and that of the team off the Cotton Bowl for the week at least.

Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech is greatly impressed with Arkansas, too. "We'll have to play a perfect game to beat Arkansas," he observed.

A perfect game ruins a perfect season, huh?

Both teams will be in good shape for the big finale and Tech is looking for more than 43-0 to see it—that's an overflow crowd.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice also was dreaming of a winning season—not 10-0 or 9-1, just winning. To do it he'll have to win his next two games. The first comes up Saturday at Houston when the Owls clash with Texas Christian.

Scout Red Bale said Rice could expect plenty of trouble from the ball-control Horned Frogs.

Texas Christian was in fair shape for the game with only end Doyle Johnson on the doubtful list. He got a badly bruised tie in the Texas game last week.

Southern Methodist also expected to be in good shape Saturday when it meets Baylor at Dallas and Baylor should be in the best condition in weeks since not a single injury or setback of old wounds came from Baylor's 17-15 victory over Kentucky. Lawrence Elkins, the great pass-receiver who got the tie along with assorted injuries, is expected to be back in action Saturday.

Texas and Texas A&M, who don't play again until Thanksgiving Day, took Monday off. There were no injuries of note in either camp.

Prairie View Closing on Wittenberg

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten Prairie View is closing in on Wittenberg in The Associated Press small-college football poll. But giant-killer Southern University will have something to say about the final outcome.

Southern U., unranked in the poll, faces Prairie View Saturday. The past weekend Southern upset knocked Florida A&M from the unbeaten ranks and the Top Ten. The Aggies, third last week, succumbed 43-20.

An impressive victory for Prairie View could move it past Wittenberg, which closed its season with an 8-0 record more than a week ago.

In the latest balloting by a special panel of 14 regional experts, Wittenberg collected eight first-place votes and 112 points. Prairie View, although unnamed for the No. 1 position, garnered 100 points.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

2. Prairie View 100

San Diego State, Massachusetts, Minnesota Concordia, East Carolina, Sam Houston State and Texas A&I round out the first 10.

East Carolina and Sam Houston are newcomers. East Carolina placed eighth after whipping Presbyterian 49-8 and Sam Houston State beat Texas A&I 21-16, dropping the losers from seventh to 10th.

Arkansas State, 10th a week ago, dropped from the elite after playing a 7-7 tie with Lamar Tech.

Russell Expected Back in Action

BALTIMORE (AP) — Capt. Bill Russell was expected to return to action with his Celtics teammates tonight after undergoing hospital tests for exhaustion and inability to sleep.

The National Basketball Association champions meet the Baltimore Bullets tonight after two days off.

Russell had been held two nights and a day at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston by order of Dr. John Doherty, team physician. Dr. Doherty gave Russell a medical okay after a thorough testing but held him a second night to see if Russell could get more rest.

10-0 a Long Way From a 9-1 Season

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that the Razorbacks were going to concentrate on Texas Tech, instead of their Cotton Bowl date with Nebraska Jan. 1.

Arkansas won a berth in the Cotton Bowl with a 44-0 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday. Only Texas Tech stands in the way of an undefeated, untied season for the third-ranked Porkers.

"This week is the biggest thing that has happened to any of us—a chance to go undefeated for the first time in 55 years," Broyles said.

"You know there's not much difference between 9-1, 8-2 and 7-3, but it's a long way down from 10-0 to 9-1. It's a heck of a fall from there," he said.

Freshman assistant coach Nicky O'Quinn gave the Razorbacks a scouting report on the Red Raiders.

Asked if he discussed Tech with the team, Broyles said, "We didn't really have to tell them much—just showed 'em a little film of that fantastic backfield they've got."

Trainer Bill Ferrell said center Randy Stewart might miss the Tech game Saturday at Lubbock.

Arkansas Stingy With Yardage

DALLAS (AP) — Tight-fisted Arkansas is so stingy it's allowing the opposition only 6.3 points and 180.7 yards per game.

The Razorbacks are even tougher than that in conference play. They have posted three straight shutouts and given up only 25 points in six league games.

Arkansas leads the defense with a bulge of 23.6 yards over second place Texas.

Texas Tech continues to top the offense, rushing for 212.0 and passing for 98.1 for a 310.1 yards total offense per game. Baylor is second with 291.0.

Tech added to its lead with a 418-yard day against Washington State.

Snell Batters Own World Mile Record

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Peter Snell of New Zealand, a double gold medalist at the Tokyo Olympics, bettered his own world record in the mile today by three-tenths of a second with a 3:54.1 clocking. Snell set the previous world mark of 3:54.4 on Jan. 27, 1962, at Wanganui, New Zealand.

Porkers Keep 3rd Spot, Irish Stay on Top

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Undefeated Notre Dame's impressive 34-7 victory over Michigan State enabled the Fighting Irish to increase their lead in The Associated Press college football poll with only two weeks left before the national titleholder is crowned.

The weekend results followed form sheets closely, thus the only changes among the Top Ten involved the bottom three places.

Louisiana State, which beat Mississippi State 14-10, advanced one notch to eighth. Syracuse and Oregon took over the last two spots, replacing Oregon State and Georgia Tech.

Syracuse beat Virginia Tech 20-15 and moved into the No. 9 position. Oregon took over the 10th spot with a 29-21 conquest of Indiana. Oregon State, eighth a week ago, was beaten by Stanford 16-7 and Georgia Tech, 10th last week, dropped a 24-7 verdict to second-ranked Alabama.

Notre Dame, with an 8-0 record, collected 34 first-place votes and 433 points in the balloting by a special panel of 45 experts.

Alabama, 9-0, drew nine first-place votes and 406 points. The Crimson Tide trailed Notre Dame by only 13 points a week ago.

Arkansas held third place with 361 points, followed by Nebraska with 307 and Texas 246. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second et.

The former University of Arkansas Star also came in for praise from Kansas City Coach Hank Stram.

"That rascal Alworth is going to catch 'em on anybody and everybody. He made a couple of fantastic catches."

The Chargers, now on a six-game winning streak, defeated Kansas City 28-14 and have a three-game lead in the Western Division of the American Football League.

Winning Is Tougher Than Losing

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bear Bryant looked like a man who had got stuck in the wringer.

His face was creased with concern. His shoulders sagged. He was the picture of despair.

"Whew, I don't know whether I'll make it through the season or not," the Alabama coach moaned.

Wayne Hardin was full of bounce and buoyancy. He smiled and joked. He was perfectly relaxed.

"Only one to go—Army," said the red-haired Navy coach. "It's much tougher on a football coach to win than to lose, the two men agreed today."

Bryant and Hardin were in New York as guests of the Metropolitan Football Writers.

Bryant, who looked as if he had just been burned in effigy on the main street at Tuscaloosa, came to town to discuss a team that had won nine straight, was ranked second nationally and already assured of a spot in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Hardin's job was to talk about Navy, a team that had skidded from a 9-1 record and No. 2 national ranking in 1963 to a disappointing 3-5-1 in 1964, with the tough Army game ahead.

Hardin badly needs the Army scalp to keep followers of the Midshipmen from asking: "What happened?"

"Being coach of a team on a winning streak is much harder on you than it is when you lose a few," the Navy coach said, "but there's naturally not a coach who doesn't prefer the worry and pressures of a winning season."

"When you have a good string going, as we had last year and Alabama and Notre Dame among others have this year, you are scared to death. You always expect something to happen. You are waiting for the ax to fall."

Bryant agreed. "It's really rugged on you when you're winning," he said. "There's an old theory that

Financiers Custodians of School

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — New York long has been known as a city of big financial operators. But hardly anyone would have expected to find a flock of them sweeping out the little red schoolhouse.

Thus there were gasps of amazement here and elsewhere when it came to light that city school custodians were among the highest paid people in the nation.

A number were found to be making more than governors, mayors of large cities, college presidents and even school superintendents.

One wound up with $53,000 for a year's work — $3,000 more than New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Another made $46,130. By comparison, School Supt. Calvin A. Gross gets $45,000 a year.

Of the city's 870 custodians, some 68 were in the $25,000-plus bracket.

How did this situation come about?

Long ago the ruling elders of the school system concluded that it would be better to farm out the janitorial job to set up a large organization within the system to do it.

As a result, custodians became contractors. As individuals they contracted to maintain and keep the schools clean. The money they received was based on the size of the school.

Out of the lump sum they were to hire whatever help was necessary and pay for all equipment and materials to do the job.

Whatever was left over was their own pay.
